COUNTY REPUBLICANS ENDORSE BRAMBLETT

Ernest K. Bramblett, of Pacific Grove, was unanimously endorsed for re-election as congressman from the 11th Congressional District during a meeting Friday in Salinas by the Monterey County Republican Central Committee.

During a meeting Sunday in San Luis Obispo, members of the Republican 11th Congressional District Committee elected the following officers: Harry E. Crean, Monterey County, chairman; Paul Leavens, Ventura County, vice chairman; Mrs. Ben L. Meibergen, Monterey County, secretary, and F. E. Dayton, Monterey County, treasurer.

VFW MEMBERS TO MEET MONDAYS

A majority of the members of Captain H. H. Chapman Post 1930, VFW, decided last week that Monday nights would be more convenient for meetings, and voted to change regular meeting nights to the second and fourth Mondays of each month. The next regular meeting will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Staie Memorial Hall, New Monterey. Public game night will be held tonight at 8 p.m., while the annual Children's Christmas party is slated for next Thursday at the same time in Staie Memorial Hall.

OK NON-QUOTA IMMIGRANT STUDENTS FOR MPC

The Monterey Peninsula College has been approved for acceptance of non-quota immigrant students by the United States Department of Justice, according to Glen T. Goodwill, superintendent of Monterey Public Schools. Approval was received from the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Washington, D.C. following a request made last August.

The Department of State will notify all U.S. consular officers of this approval so that applications for required non-quota student visas can be approved. The procedure is for the prospective student to present to the consular officer a letter of acceptance from the Monterey Peninsula College, and such other evidence as the consul may require.

CARMEL SANITARY ANNEXATION PETITION HEARING DEC. 27

Annexation to the Carmel Sanitary District of a single block bounded by Monte Verde, 14th and 15th Streets will be considered at a hearing on Dec. 27, it was decided by the Carmel Sanitary Board Monday night. The hearing was set following receipt of a petition from property owners in the block, which is in the Mission Tract.

The board members also heard a letter from the Carmel Planning Commission, which passed approval on the proposed Carmelito subdivision below the mouth of the Carmel River. James W. Moore, of Carmel, developer of the subdivision, appeared before the planners two weeks ago.

SPECTATOR COMES OF AGE LEGALLY

The SPECTATOR, which celebrated its first birthday in October of this year, has come of age in that it now can accept legal notices or advertising required by county courts and other county boards and subdivisions.

The publication was declared a newspaper of general circulation within the County of Monterey in a hearing Monday at Superior Court in Salinas. The law requires that a newspaper must operate one year before legal notices may be accepted.

BRING TIN CANS FOR THE XMAS TREE

Everyone in the Valley is urged to meet at the Firehouse on Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to help decorate the community Christmas tree. Residents are asked to bring tin cans after labels and both ends have been removed and tin snips to be used to make ornaments for the tree.

SARDINE FISHING BEST SINCE WAR

Monterey fishermen, held in port by the full moon, are now out again. Because fish are caught by their glow over the water at night, sardine fishing ceases on the bright nights when the moon is at the full.

The Monterey fishing industry this year is in its healthiest state since the end of the war. Charged, but never definitely proved, was the theory that munitions dumped too close inshore drove sardines away from the coast for two years, causing a fish famine that sent prices soaring.

This year, the fish returned. So far, the catch for the season tops 19,000 tons, with more than a month of the northern season remaining.

The San Pedro sardine fishing industry, serious rival to the Monterey enterprise, is crippled by a work stoppage which has dragged through many weeks, and by a price war now abandoned.

CYPRESS POST MEETING

The first meeting of the Monterey Cypress Post of the American Legion will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m., American Legion Hall, on upper Jefferson St., Monterey.

Lucky Boy Board Meeting

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of Lucky Boy Markets held at the office of the company on Dec. 1, 1949, the board directed that the company pay a dividend of five percent on outstanding stock as of Nove. 15, 1949. The board set Dec. 20 as the date for the annual stockholders meeting.

Plans were disclosed for the building of a new store in the Oak Knoll district on Fremont Extension. This new store will be ready for occupancy about April, 1950, and will provide parking space for a large number of cars. The board of directors accepted the resignation of Carmen Ries as a board member and expressed regrets of her loss to the company. For many years she was an employe and executive of the firm.

Sales of the firm have shown an increase during the year on a store for store basis. During the year, two smaller stores were sold and a third store moved into larger quarters on Alvarado Street, Monterey. The company expects to achieve a sales volume in excess of one million dollars in 1950. S. Crispin is president and founder of Lucky Boy Markets. John King is vice president and Kenneth Osborne is secretary-treasurer. Directors: Robert Auswith, James Pithoud, Harold Kruse, A. F. Laible, S. Crispin, John King and Kenneth Osborne.

The company operates five markets in Monterey, Seaside and Carmel.

EITHER A THIEF OR A CONSIDERATE GUEST

Aftermath of the dance at Carmel Valley Inn Saturday night following the meeting of the Women's Division of the California Real Estate Association: Some one lifted the purse of Arrangements Chairman Gladys Johnston.

On Monday morning the Carmel Post Office notified Mrs. Johnston that her wallet, glasses and personal papers were found in the mail slot wrapped in white paper to which was attached her automobile credit card. No purse and no money, however.

Evidently, it was a thief or a considerate guest who could not get the purse in the slot and kept the money for transportation.

IDEALISM VS. CYNICISM

Two organizations represented on the Monterey Peninsula offer programs for world peace. It seems about time to comment on their objectives and their chances of working.

On the one hand, we have the United World Federalists, and on the other, the Atlantic Union Committee. The alternatives are idealism versus cynicism.

The World Federalists take a relatively hopeful view of mankind and pin their hopes on the implication that a world law can be written, accepted by the majority of the peoples, and enforced.

The Atlantic Union Committee offers straight power politics through a union of Atlantic "democracies" backed up by a joint army-navy-airforce.

The first view is dangerous, especially if it assumes that nations will play fair. In a world which has seen innumerable "peace pacts" broken by countries that have gone to war, in a world in which communist doctrine preaches "make any promise to achieve an end," it will be more than difficult for people to believe that wars can be averted by legal means. The World Federalists wish to have the law backed up by an international police force, however. International police force is a polite term for Army-Navy-Airforce, which in turn implies war or the threat of war.

The second view - that of the Atlantic Union Committee - is equally dangerous, although it might stave off a shooting war for a few more years. AUC members feel that the Atlantic countries must maintain a balance of power against Soviet Russia. They believe that a mighty army and navy and airforce among the Atlantic countries is the only assurance of peace. Unfortunately, when a country or group of countries builds up a powerful fighting machine, it must use it sooner or later. When you have a large amount of planes, tanks, guns, ships and bombs, you can't just allow them to rust. Hitler discovered that. He satisfied the German people with his war production prosperity in the thirties, then had to find an outlet for that production. The outlet was war. Both the United States and Russia are currently producing war materials and a joint army-navy-airforce of the Atlantic countries would merely place Russia more on the defensive - or offensive.

The idealists (World Federalists), with their very realistic but far-in-the-future "international police force," may be surprised when they offer world law to the Russians. They may get their arms bitten off clear up to the elbows.

The cynics see the United States as a heavily muscled young man who can hold his own in any fight. The only trouble is that he is getting ulcers waiting for his enemies to make the first move. It may be that he needs to see his psychiatrist.

In recorded history, mankind has not known much peace, except for the 200 years of Pax Romana. The Romans found peace only after they had licked everyone in sight. The same situation does not exist today, because there are two Romes, Russia and the United States eyeing one another like two bulls in a pasture during mating season.

The end of war rests with the individual. When people are REALLY sick of the killing and the hating and the fear, wars will end. As Henry Miller, of Big Sur, said: We must "murder the murderer." We must murder war, kill it out of our hearts, each of us individually. Depending on present points of view, this simple statement will appear either cynical or idealistic. It is cynical because it appears impossible, and it is idealistic for the same reason. But it is the only solution.

A bookmaker could reap a fortune right now taking bets from people who think the United States and Russia are not going to war.

Anti-Red Pact Nations To Get Atomic Bombs? Put Pressure on U. S. To Make 'Em Available

SPECIAL TO THE SPECTATOR

WASHINGTON—Continued Russian opposition to atomic control plans may see the anti-Communist Atlantic Pact nations armed with American-made A-bombs for their own defense.

Pressure of every conceivable type is being brought to bear on the United States to make the "total weapon" available to the western European pact members.

State Secretary Dean Acheson

Proponents of A-bombs for Europe point out that with Russian possession of the bomb, the pact countries are left virtually defenseless should an atomic war occur.

Britain and France, particularly, are casting envious glances at the United States A-bomb stockpile and seek to get some of the bombs for their air arms.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson undoubtedly once again faced the arguments of the French and British spokesman at the recent Big Three meeting in Paris. These countries are arguing that if the United States will not let A-bombs out of its control, it should at least send them to United States-manned overseas bases.

● SENATORIAL PARADOX—Senator Paul H. Douglas (D), Illinois, is fast creating for himself a reputation as the outstanding paradox in Congress.

Douglas came to the Senate in the 1948 Truman landslide. He defeated Republican Senator Wayland Brooks and was generally labeled a New Dealer.

Yet he has become one of the foremost economy advocates in the Senate. His views on spending are virtually the same as those of Senator Robert Taft (R), Ohio, who is generally regarded as the thorough opponent of anything smacking of the New Deal or the "Fair Deal."

Douglas, a former economics professor, insists that government expenditures should be trimmed $4.5 billion. He opposes President Truman's suggestion that taxes should be increased, saying it would be inexcusable to boost them without trying to cut spending.

Naturally, the senator's views have not put him in good light with the administration. However, he is determined to stick to his independent course. He is not opposed in principle to many of the president's domestic welfare proposals, but contends that the country cannot afford them at this time without substantial cuts in other expenditures.

● TROUBLE AHEAD FOR ECA—The Marshall Plan appears to face the strongest opposition it has ever had to contend with in Congress.

Indications were that when Congress reassembles Jan. 3 a strong campaign will be launched either to severely reduce the "third installment" on European recovery funds or eliminate it entirely.

Recovery Funds May Be Sliced

Rep. Mike Mansfield (D), Montana, influential member of the House foreign affairs committee, which will hold early hearings on the program, anticipates increased opposition unless the western union recipients form an economic union.

Failure of the Marshall Plan countries to eliminate their trade barriers would strengthen the hands of ECA opponents. What's more, according to Mansfield, it would raise "doubts" in the minds of some supporters.

A mounting government deficit and the threat of increased taxes are expected to be potent arguments in the fight to reduce aid to Europe.

SAN ANTONIO MISSION: MODERNIZED BY ANCIENT PROCESS

By BILL MARTIN

The Mission San Antonio de Padua, located in the wild and desolate country southwest of King City, must have been a nightmare to its more thin-blooded inhabitants 100 or 200 years ago. How do you heat an adobe brick structure that rambles over more than 12 acres of land?

The answer is: You don't. And even in modern days you don't do it very effectively unless you use radiant heating.

Adobe brick walls 30 inches thick, hand-made tile floors and the sparse furnishings of the typical California mission all add up to a cave-like coldness. The congregation of the Carmel Mission, back in the days before radiant heating was installed by Wilder & Jones, Inc., Carmel mechanical contractors, worshipped in overcoats and furs on many occasions.

Wilder & Jones is presently undertaking the installation of radiant heating at the Mission San Antonio (see cuts). Although the process is relatively new to this part of the country, it may be explained simply to the layman: Hot water is circulated beneath the floor of a building through a series of metal pipes. The heat output of the radiant panel (the floor) is a combination of radiation and convection. Convection, an inescapable product of any heating method, heats the air that comes in contact with the floor and increases the air temperature of the room. Radiation does not heat the air, but is the transfer of heat energy through space to objects within the room. The rays of the sun warm an object in the same manner.

While radiant heating was introduced to the United States only 30 years ago, it is an ancient method of warming a building, much older than the San Antonio Mission. Excavations at Rome and Pompeii show that the Romans were familiar with its use, and heated by means of masonry ducts beneath floors and within walls. Roman ruins uncovered in England by by the ravages of World War II prove that they used metal piping, much as is done in modern work.

Orville Jones, of Wilder & Jones, Inc., reports that 50,000 feet of copper tubing will have been laid beneath the floors of San Antonio when the installation is completed in about 60 days. Considering the fact that this entails the use of almost 10 miles of copper, in pipes ranging from one-half to two inches in diameter, it is not difficult to understand why the installation will cost approximately $130,000. Silver is utilized to solder the joints of the pipes. The boiler, which supplies the hot water, is larger than the one at Monterey Union High School.

Once the installation is completed, however, the cost of heating the mission is relatively cheap, according to Mr. Jones. The piping system is laid out in eight separate units in order that any wing in the mission may be heated separately and temperatures can be regulated for each section individually.

The temperature regulation is automatic. A sudden onslaught of cold weather is automatically compensated for by the regulating device. The pipes are imbedded in concrete which will be covered with the old hand-made tiling. The mission has its own water storage and the same water may be used over and over again with little or no evaporation, since the pipes are air-tight.

Wilder & Jones, who incidentally are doing all of the plumbing and electrical work for the mission, started the job 10 months ago.

The advantages of radiant heat were listed in a recent publication by the Chase Brass & Copper Co., of Waterbury, Conn. The company directs your attention to the fact that radiant heating assures more floor space, less restriction on interior decorating, less streaking and dust on the walls, fewer fire hazards and lower operating costs.

Certainly its adaptability for such a structure as the Mission San Antonio de Padua is quite clear. As noted last week, every effort is being made to restore the mission in its original form. Wall radiators or heat registers were not a part of the past.

With radiant heating, the Franciscan Fathers, the lay brothers and the visitors to the mission will be kept warm in a most unobtrusive manner.

The SPECTRE

by Cerf Andsand.

Elizabeth Niles, Carmel librarian, dropped into the office the other day to report on the state of the library. Confusion reigns only because the library people never know when they are going to have lights to stay open at night. Also, one day they came to work and found that the library had no front door. Many of the books have been removed from shelves and stacked on tables in the reading room and the pictures have been taken down from the walls and given to the Carmel Art Gallery for safe keeping.

Conversation between two workmen, discussing contents of the library: "You know! Julius Caesar! The one that said 'Et Tu, Brute,' and then shuffled off!"

Then there was the elderly lady sitting in front of a heat register with her book. She expected hot air, but got a hot story from two workmen whose voices came through the heating system. Efforts to distract the lady went to no avail. She stayed and heard the story out.

The Menuhin-Baker concert Saturday night in Carmel did not (surprisingly) play to a full house, but a special Cerf Andsand poll shows that it was well-received. Mozart appears to have won out over Brahms and George (Bad Boy of Music) Antheil, whose Sonata Number 2 was premiered, should have been satisfied with the response to his offering. The sometimes stridency of his music is refreshing to those who are aware that this is a fairly strident world we live in. Mr. Antheil, who turned pages for Pianist Yaltah Menuhin, looks too pleasant to have written what he wrote.

This may not interest the thousands of people who will not be invited to his Pebble Beach home, but I am informed that Bing Crosby will be here for Christmas.

With all this talk of master street and highway plans in Monterey, it is hoped that the powers that be cast a speculative eye at those confusing "No Right Turn" and "No Left Turn" signs on Calle Principal. At certain times the motorist feels that he is never going to be able to turn off the street. Sort of like being poured down a funnel ...

Student officers and their families at the Navy General Line School will be packing up and leaving the peninsula in a few days. School's over until the next bunch arrives. It seems like we just get to know them and then they have to shove off.

Some people might tell you it rained Sunday night, but don't let them kid you. It was tears, large crocodile tears shed by Notre Dame supporters who gave 14 to 20 points with their bets on the Irish-SMU game. ND almost got bounced, which would have gladdened my little heart...

Got a call from an irate citizen who wondered why they don't cut parking time from 40 minutes to 20 minutes by the Carmel Post Office. Haven't thought much about it, myself, but I'm willing to listen.

The Surf Room at the Beach Club closed down for the season last weekend. It is expected that the Pebble Beach dining, dancing and drinking establishment will open in the Spring, probably in the month of May.

Mrs. Billie Sipes and Charlie MacIntosh at their recent wedding, Church of the Wayfarer.

KMBY TO AIR Basketball Games

Basketball is really taking to the peninsula airwaves this season. It got off in great style last weekend. Officials of KMBY told THE SPECTATOR 21 different games are scheduled for broadcast. Of this number, the first two were aired Friday and Saturday evenings from the Monterey High School Gymnasium. Friday's game saw Monterey opposing Bellarmine, and Saturday's, Monterey Peninsula College vs. Visalia.

Ernie Russell, well known peninsula sportscaster, has been retained to follow Carmel, Monterey Pacific Grove, and college teams in basketball tilts on the peninsula. KMBY will attempt to select games of the greatest interest where there is a conflict in schedule.

Here is their tentative schedule for the remainder of the season:

Dec.	10	MPC - Fort Ord
	16	Carmel - Gonzales
	17	Monterey - San Jose Tech.
	30	Monterey - Hollister
Jan.	6	Pacific Grove - Carmel
	13	Carmel - Hollister

Mr. Fassett is seen with Mrs. Fassett, while Mr. White gets a big laugh from Mrs. Bert Dienelt. Photos were taken at last week's opening of The Carousel in Carmel Valley. The popular dining spot is now under the management of "Big Bob" Robinson and "Little Bob" Mills, who made such a success of Holman's Guest Ranch, which they co-managed. The Carousel on opening night was flooded with well-wishers from all over the peninsula. Photos by STEVE CROUCH.

The Carmel Way... By BETTY SHOEMAKER

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Helen Clark Park gave a birthday party for her daughter, Margaretta, last Wednesday. After dinner, the guests adjourned to the Del Monte Gardens for a program of Negro spirituals rendered by the Macedonia Choir of San Francisco and sponsored by the Ocean View Baptist Church. Mrs. Park's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nicoud, Mr. and Mrs. Walter O'Keefe, Alan McAllister, Dana Rood, Claus Prinsheim, and Betty Shoemaker. Later, many friends dropped by to offer felicitations. Mrs. Park's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell Park, visited here for the weekend.

GARIN COCKTAIL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Garin, Jr., gave a delightful cocktail party on Saturday. There were 60 guests in all, mostly friends from around the peninsula with several out of towners. Included among the latter were Dr. and Mrs. John Haman, of Hillsboro; Dr. and Mrs. James McGinnis, of Atherton; Jan Oostermeyer, of Ross, and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Brunsing, of Sausalito. Extra enjoyment was added to the evening by the arrival of Mrs. Garin's sister, Miss Bebe Betts, home from an eastern school for the holidays. Mrs. Garin's mother, Mrs. Edward Betts, Jr., of New York, helped entertain.

ZELLERBACH HOME

J. D. Zellerbach, head of the ECA in Italy, is home in San Francisco for a brief visit. He plans a visit with his brother, Harold Zellerbach, of Carmel.

THE LITTLE FOXES

The Forest Theater Guild will present "The Little Foxes" at the Sunset Auditorium, on Jan. 20, 21, 27 and 28.

GLASERS AT HOME

The James Glasers are here for a two week stay in their Pebble Beach home. They plan to make a quick trip to Chicago before Christmas. In March, they will return to make this their permanent home, along with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Dewey.

FORMER CONCERT MANAGER

Miss Alice Seckels, who managed the first concert Yehudi Menuhin gave, when he was a lad of seven, attended the Yalta Menuhin concert with Mrs. Edmond Dexter. Miss Seckels will travel to Seattle for a holiday.

MONOLOGUES

At the Carmel Women's Club, Monday, Dorothy Crawford, monologuist, did three delightful character sketches. They were entitled "Portrait of a Woman," "The Doctor's Ladies," and "The Story of Lisa."

VISIT THE THOMPSONS

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson entertained Mrs. W. E. Mitchell, of Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lindemann, of San Francisco, over the weekend. Yesterday Mrs. A. J. Courtwright arrived for a short stay with the Thompsons.

PATSY RICKETTS' PARTY

Patsy Ricketts celebrated her twelfth birthday with a buffet supper last Sunday. Her guests included 14 girls from the Sunset School.

THANKYOU FROM FR. O'CONNELL

Father Michael O'Connell, of Carmel Mission, wishes to thank all those participating in and contributing to the drive for War Relief overseas.

SUNSET TRADITIONAL PLAY

The Sunset School will present its traditional Christmas play on Thursday, Dec. 15, at 8 p.m. The production is titled "A Star in the East," and is being directed by Jerome Castagnetto. Art Holman, teacher of music, will direct 14 musical numbers throughout the play, while Ernest Calley has charge of building the sets. The student who will manage the stage crew is Paul Fratessa. An afternoon dress rehearsal will be put on for the pupils the preceding Wednesday. The public is invited to attend the formal presentation.

Offer Driver Lessons In Adult Classes

The Adult Program of the Monterey Peninsula Evening College is offering another opportunity for adults to learn to drive automobiles and prepare for automobile license examinations. The second six-week course began on Monday at 7 p.m. The class meets in the Automobile Shop at the Monterey Union High School, with four persons each hour assigned to the dual control training car. There will be a total of 12 sessions, four of them before the Christmas vacation.

The first hour of each session will deal with law, safety measures and personal factors in driving. During the second hour each session, knowledge of the automobile, important to its proper maintenance and effective operation, will be taught. A fee of $3 is charged for the course. This fee covers the class instruction and four quarter-hour periods behind the wheel. Additional time behind the wheel, if needed, can be arranged with the instructor at the rate of 75 cents per quarter hour period. Such behind the wheel instruction will have to be on Saturdays or after 5 p.m. on school days.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES

P.G. HIGH CONCERT

The Pacific Grove High School Orchestra gave its annual pre-Christmas concert Sunday night at the Mayflower Church. The auditorium was crowded to hear the numbers directed by Raymond Washburn. The string quartet and several soloists also rendered selections.

MAYFLOWER NOEL PARTY

The Mayflower Women's Association Christmas party was given last night. Special event was Mrs. Tod B. Sperling's rendition of two readings, "Angel in the Looking Glass," and "Los Pastores," an adaptation of a play performed by early Montereyans after the Christmas service. Gifts were brought which will be donated to needy local families. The Northwest group served refreshments.

1ST PRESBYTERIAN GROUP

The Men's Friendship Club of the First Presbyterian Church, Monterey, had its second meeting Monday. Turkey dinner was served by the ladies of the church. Miss Lucy Hargis and Mrs. John Leslie were in charge. The program was arranged by Reu Manhire, and included guest soloist James Griffin, Ed Kennedy, who talked of his war correspondence experiences, and a color film of the Monterey Centennial.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PAGEANT

On Tuesday, Dec. 20, the pageant will be put on by the Mayflower Sunday School. Santa Claus will be on hand to distribute candy to the younger generation of the Church.

WAYFARER XMAS PARTY

The Wayfarer Guild of the Church of the Wayfarer, Carmel, had a Christmas party last night at the home of Miss Florence Smythe. The program was arranged by Miss Margaret McIntire and Dr. Pauline Eckman. This group will send gifts to the Navajo children of the Ganado Mission, Arizona.

The junior group of the youth fellowship, Church of the Wayfarer, discussed "Dating and Making Friends," under the leadership of Jane Lowry, last Sunday evening, while Carol Bedau directed a senior discussion on the topic, "What in my Faith is Worth Living and Dying for?" Next week the young people will have a guest speaker, Carl Patnude, who will talk on the subject, "Business and Religion." Devotional leader for the meeting will be Miss Julia Graves.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Ministerial Association of the Peninsula will meet on Monday at St. James Church, Monterey. Part of the evening's business will be the planning of holiday programs.

SERMON BABY SITTER

The First Christian Church of Pacific Grove has installed a competent nurse in the nursery so that all mothers who want to attend the service may do so with the knowledge that her child is receiving excellent care.

The Church will have a Fellowship dinner and business meeting tomorrow night at which time the new constitution and by-laws will be ratified.

On Sunday, the Women's Missionary Society will be in charge of the morning service, with a special guest speaker.

AAUW NOEL PARTY

The American Association of University Women will give its annual Christmas party next Wednesday, 8 p.m., at St. Mary's By-the-Sea, Pacific Grove. Each member is asked to bring a book for the Monterey Child Care Center. Especially suitable are brightly colored picture books for youngsters aged two to six years. The party is being arranged by Mrs. Ted Durein's Book Section. Chairman of refreshments will be Mrs. Harry Sortais; songs, Mrs. Norman Naas; decorations, Mrs. Richard Schuman; corsages, Mrs. Douglas Martz.

SAINT ANGELA PARTY

The Mothers' Guild of the Saint Angela Parochial School is planning a Christmas party for the children of the school, on Dec. 15, in the school library. Mrs. Cyril Church is chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. R. K. Garrison, president of the guild. Also on the committee are the Mesdames Everett Williams, Jess France, Ed Pavaref, M. Wawrukiewicz, James Strang, Don Purdy, S. Ricci, George Houde and V. Diridom. A full afternoon program is planned including a movie, "A Christmas Dream."

A HAPPY STORY

By BETTY SHOEMAKER

Here's a holiday-birthday story we thought you would all enjoy. December 16 is Miss Julienne Poulichet's natal date. She was born in San Francisco in 1927 and moved to France at the age of three.

Although her mother returned to the U.S. before the war, Julienne remained with her grandmother and attended school at Carhaix in Brittany during the German occupation. When Julienne came here in 1947, she knew no English. She entered Carmel High School and was tested comprehensively as soon as she could read English. As near as the high school could tell, she had an education equivalent to our eighth or ninth grade. However, she completed the high school course in two years and graduated fourteenth in a class of fifty-eight. She endeared herself to all at the school and they feel that no praise of her could be too great.

Now Julienne is attending nursing school at the French Hospital in San Francisco. She is the recipient of the Alma Rodgers Memorial Fund scholarship, awarded by the Soroptimist Club of the Monterey Peninsula. This scholarship consists of three years' tuition and a monthly allowance to the girl who is selected for it.

Julienne is the daughter of Mrs. Josephine Miller, of the Carmel Bakery. Mrs. Miller expects her daughter home for a week at Christmas.

CARMEL BUSINESSMEN TO ANNOUNCE NEW OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Carmel Business Association will be held Friday, Dec. 8, at the Mission Ranch. Results of the election of executive board members and officers for 1950 will be announced, and Henry "Hank" Ketcham will give a cartoon talk. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30.

NAVY OFFICERS GRADUATE DEC. 16

On Friday, Dec. 16, officer students in training at the Monterey Navy General Line School will receive their diplomas.

This week, there was a flurry of activity in real estate on the peninsula, as many officers who bought property early in the year were attempting to sell out. Meanwhile, two mine sweepers weigh anchor Saturday, after completing their tour of duty as floating classrooms for students.

USS Endicott and USS Thompson have been at Monterey for two weeks.

ATLANTIC UNION COMMITTEE MEETING

A regular membership meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the Atlantic Union Committee met Tuesday in the Sunset School Cafeteria, Carmel. Stanley Pedder, secretary of the organization, gave a concise review of the purpose of the Atlantic Union Resolution which is now before Congress.

The members considered plans for sponsoring a Pacific Coast Conference for AUC leaders from California, Oregon and Washington, early next year. The election of David H. Gill, Pacific Grove attorney, to the Board of Directors, was announced by Edgar Bissantz, president of the chapter.

FOSTER-KRATTLI WEDDING

Every available seat was taken and plenty of people were standing to view the superlatively lovely wedding of Barbara Lucille Foster and Lieutenant Commander James Altheide Krattli, last Saturday. White flowers were everywhere. Even at the end of each pew was hung a carnation bouquet covered by shimmering net. The bride wore a gown of heavy satin, trimmed with lace, and a veil of net. The matron-of-honor was dressed in an aqua colored gown and the maids of honor in a deep, glowing rose shade, also of satin.

The exit from the Church (St. Angela's, Pacific Grove) was quite exciting, as the Navy officers formed the traditional arch of swords for Barbara and Jim.

Out at the Monterey Country Club afterwards, a six piece orchestra was playing, champagne and a delicious light supper were served. The newly married couple cut the first slice of the mountainous wedding cake with the groom's own sword. Barbara's mother, Mrs. Reginald Foster, in a beautiful beige satin dress, was the personification of hospitality. The many compliments paid the bride and groom, both in their presence and on the side lines, proved the old adage - "All the world loves a lover."

RED, WHITE & BLUE PARTY

The Pacific Grove Red, White and Blue Club will be busy for the next several weeks. A gala Christmas celebration is planned for Tuesday. Turkey dinner will be served at 1 p.m. at Holman's solarium. Mrs. Lucille Ambrozio is chairman of the planning committee. There will be a gift exchange among members.

On Friday, Dec. 16, at 8:30 p.m., there will be a card party at the new carpenters' union hall, corner of Hawthorne and Irving Streets, New Monterey. A turkey will be given away as the grand prize. Mrs. Lola Etheridge and Mrs. Emma Golden are in charge of the event.

At the last meeting new officers were elected. The new president is Mrs. Etheridge; vice president, Mrs. Ollie McDonnell; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Albertson.

P.G. WOMEN'S BAZAAR

The Pacific Grove Women's Civic Club plans a bazaar for Saturday, to be held at the club building. Mrs. A. D. Wells, Mrs. John Read and Mrs. Fred Gadsby are in charge of the event. Special events of the day will include a luncheon being directed by Mrs. D. C. Baxter, fortune teller, Mrs. A. H. Stokes, and an art display set up by Mrs. John McCrae. A selection of gifts is being offered.

TO VISIT ONTARIO

Mr. and Mrs. John Kissinger, of Pacific Grove, will leave soon to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Robinson in Ontario, California, for the Christmas holiday.

SIGNS Of The TIMES

Pacific Grove businessmen this week have spent a lot of time thinking about signs.

A month ago, J. D. Flint appeared before the City Council. He wanted to know why he couldn't put up a new electric sign, replacing a wooden one he had taken down. Flint told the council he had had his application before the Planning Commission for Commission for several months, and finally, on Nov. 1, they had tabled it altogether.

Dr. Clarence Higgins, chairman of the commission and the council's representative on it, explained that the sign collided with the "interim" zoning ordinance. He said also that it MIGHT be banned under the zoning ordinance PG will eventually adopt. Mr. Flint told the council that if he couldn't put his sign up, he expected other signs to come down.

Residents living near commercially-zoned areas are complaining, too. Several motel operators have been asked to amend signs, or take them down. Monterey banned overhanging signs in 1946. The signs were taken down for the flag raising Centennial, and legislated out before they went back up.

Faced with a legal problem of compelling anyone already having a sign up to take it down, the Pacific Grove Administration faces a situation which could lead to trouble, no matter which course they pursue.

MENUHIN-BAKER RECITAL

The duo-recital by Yaltah Menuhin, pianist, and Israel Baker, violinist, was given last Saturday night in Sunset School Auditorium. The program opened with Mozart's "Sonata in A Major," a composition too delicate in structure for anything short of perfect understanding from each of the artists. Unfortunately, Miss Menuhin played with a too-heavy touch, while Mr. Baker's bowing was so light that there were times when it was difficult even to hear what he had to say. Had something of a less exacting nature been chosen, the audience would have been better prepared to receive the world premiere performance of the "Sonata No. 2" by George Antheil. This is a fast-paced number requiring perfect coordination between the performers; otherwise the audience only gets the shell and the meat remains untasted. Its structure and sound are delightful, containing quite a store of humor and satire. Here we had a much better rendition; however, the protagonists had a difficult time staying together in each of these two sonatas. They shared more equally the lyrical conversations of the Brahms "Sonata No. 2." Music of the late Romantics seems to be more universally understood by both performers and listeners. It was wise to close the evening with this Brahms, and the audience gave the team a healthy ovation. Two delightful encores were rendered, and the Denny-Watrous Management knew, once more, that it had sponsored another artistic achievement for the peninsula.

MONTEREY CO. SYMPHONY

The opening concert of the Monterey County Symphony was as long ago as November 29th, but this rapidly growing unit turned in such a surprisingly good performance that this column feels that a word or two are still in order. Clifford Anderson, conductor of the first portion of the program, chose wisely in the "Rosamunde Overture." This gave the musicians a thorough warming up, with the result that the Haydn "Symphony No. 92" came to us as a solidly connected whole. The second portion of the evening was conducted by Lorell McCann. Rimsky-Korsakov's "Polonaise" from Christmas Night was a lively little affair, and served as an awakener for the First Movement of the Saint-Saens' "Concerto No. 2 for Piano and Orchestra." Miss Dorothy Heer, from Salinas, was the featured soloist, and she played with all the assurance of thorough understanding. Her performance captured all the saccharine lyricism of the last century without forfeiting her own artistic strength. The remainder of the program was devoted to ballet music: a "Suite" from Sylvia by Delibes and the hackneyed "Espana Rhapsody" by Chabrier. Excluding the Concerto, the latter portion of the evening did not measure up to the first. Perhaps it is because we all know such rather commonplace music too well ...

Edward McLean, noted bookbinder, spoke on "The Care and Restoration of Books" last night at the Carmel Art Association Galleries. In connection with his lecture an extensive showing of bookbinding work was on exhibit. Examples of Mr. McLean's craftsmanship are found in libraries and private collections all over the United States.

RED CROSS HOLDS Quarterly Meeting

The quarterly meeting of the Red Cross Directors was held last week at Carmel Chapter House, with Mathew Jenkins presiding. Thomas Perry was introduced as chairman for the 1950 fund-raising drive, and spoke a few words regarding the continued need for Red Cross assistance to the community.

Thomas Elston, chairman of disaster relief, reported on a survey now being made, looking to better and more efficient rescue and relief, the need for which was so pointedly brought to the community's attention during the Tassajara and Carmel Valley fires of September. When the findings are completed, the information will be made available to the entire community, Mr. Elston stated.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Miss Pauline McCallum, assistant Red Cross field director at Fort Ord. Miss McCallum stressed the need for better understanding of the problems facing the Red Cross and the community, due to the nature of the peace-time army.

"The boys in the army now average 18 years of age," she said. "That means there are a large number who are 16 and 17. These boys are still late adolescents, faced with an adolescent's problems. In addition, many of them have come into the army from broken homes or very poor homes, seeking security. Many of them have failed to adjust to army life and are restless, bored and disillusioned.

"Therefore the Red Cross has committed itself to a program of aid to the able-bodied as well as the invalids. The boys need constructive entertainment, additional education, sympathy and understanding."

Miss McCallum concluded her talk with a plea for more volunteers to play cards with the boys, interest them in sports and crafts, and generally to help relieve their boredom and keep their morale on a high level.

WORLD FEDERALISTS ELECT OFFICERS

The Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the United World Federalists elected officers for the ensuing year during a meeting last week at the Sunset School, Carmel. New officers are Peter Dyer, Monterey, chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Sully, Carmel, vice chairman; Larry Barretto, Carmel, secretary, and Miss Hope Hasty, Carmel, treasurer.

Something Fishie In Monterey & P G

Meeting informally with canners, Monterey officials and a state public health official last week enjoyed dinner at one of the peninsula's better known restaurants. Once the dishes were cleared away, they got down to serious business, which stretched out to 11 p.m.

Under discussion were complaints that processors on Cannery Row this year seem to have a fishier atmosphere around their plants. Every shift of wind brings new complaints to the Monterey and Pacific Grove City Halls.

Over in Pacific Grove, Monterey Township, Justice Ray Baugh sat in court as the city and Hovden's fought another round in their battle on zoning. The PG judge, Richard Eldred, disqualified himself, after the city charged that Hovden's canning operations, jutting a few feet over the city line, violated zoning. Judge Baugh ruled for Hovden in declaring the Pacific Grove complaint was not, technically, correct in the way it was drawn up. He also ruled that the city had the right to amend the complaint, and come back to court.

MUHS CHRISTMAS CONCERT DEC. 15

The Monterey Union High School Christmas concert will be held at 8 p.m. next Thursday in the high school gymnasium. Clifford Anderson will direct the orchestra and band in several selections, while the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs will sing a program under the supervision of Reu Manhire.

MONTEREY COUNCIL SLATES THREE DECEMBER MEETINGS

The Monterey City Council scheduled three December meetings this week. Officials said long agendas made extra work necessary.

The council this month is considering a problem important to Monterey: Shall the people have automatic or non-automatic meters into which pennies and nickels must be dropped for parking on main streets by late spring?

Parking meter salesmen are much in evidence around Few Memorial Hall, seat of the Monterey government, as merits of the various "one-armed collectors" are discussed.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Carmichael Beardslee, of Carmel, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" While ordinarily THE SPECTATOR highlights people in this feature, it was decided this week to choose a subject EVERYBODY knows. Born 14 months ago in Los Angeles, Mike was abandoned by his parents at a young age. Notwithstsnding his early hardships, he rose to fame following his adoption by Dick Beardslee, of Carmel. As in the case of many self-made dogs, his is a real success story. People have already forgotten the fact that he was purchased from the L.A. Dog Pound for a mere $1.53. His circle of acquaintances grows by leaps and bounds. He leaps and bounds on you if he likes you and ignores you if he doesn't. He has five hobbies: chasing seagulls, chasing ducks, chasing cats, chasing squirrels and chasing flies, but his day-to-day job is the same as everyone's; that is, getting enough to eat. He maintains permanent headquarters at the corner of Ninth and Carmelo, but may be seen during recreation hours outside the Pine Inn. His photograph was taken during a recent cocktail party in Carmel. Mike generally goes about in the altogether, but became shy when confronted by Steve Crouch's camera. He borrowed the beanie cap from Mrs. Helen C. Park, the sportcoat from Al Railton and the scarf from an unidentified lady who thought his (Mike's) widows peak was "awfully cute."

HORSE TROUGH PUTS ON THE DOG

Good news from Frank Nash, who has taken over operation of the Horse Trough Flickers at Holman's Guest Ranch. Frank is planning to bring us top flight foreign cinema as well as quality domestic films. Since the flaming demise of the Golden Bough Theatre, such film fare has been woefully lacking in this area. Frank has tentative plans for such pictures as the Italian "Shoeshine," the British "Private Lives of King Henry VIII" and "Rhodes of Africa." This type of picture will be shown Thursday and Friday nites, and the "Flickers" will continue on Saturday nites.

MUSIC HATH CHARM

Bartley Sims, owner of The Harmony House, Carmel's new music store, is in Chicago being "indocrinated" in the features of the new Spinet model Hammond Organ, for which he has been granted the dealership for this territory. His is one of very few dealerships to be granted in the United States for the new Hammond product. It's right nice to go into The Harmony House when "Bart" or someone else is playing the Hammond organ. The drinks are on the house, too. Coffee, that is.

NO BUSINESS LIKE SHOW BUSINESS

You've probably read many times about the splendid job done by the Denny-Watrous Management at California's First Theatre, State Monument, in Monterey. Their sound business principles and their theatrical know-how have kept First Theatre going for 13 years, which must be something of a record for amateur theatres - notoriously short-lived as they are.

However, little has been written about a co-worker of Misses Denny and Watrous, one whose tireless, painstaking work thru the years has contributed immeasurably to the success of First Theatre. You've probably guessed that I refer to the indomitable Rhoda Johnson, one of the finest costumers to be found anywhere in the country. Her work is professional, accurate, authentic, and often remarkable. If you saw the current hit show, "The Prince of Liars," you must have noticed the complete authenticity of the 1870 era costumes - correct to the smallest detail. Did you observe the fine quality of the materials, the freshness of the gowns, the starched cleanliness of the linens? Did you realize the knowledge and infinite care necessary to "construct" those bouncy bustles? Rhoda's needle wizardry is apparent everywhere. Many of her costumes are masterpieces of color and design which would do justice to top-drawer theatre anywhere.

Perhaps best of all is the fact that Rhoda is so well loved by all the Troopers who have come and gone at First Theatre. She's quick to sympathize and comfort, always ready to help. She's good, kind and patient. What would First Theatre be without her?

Among others who contribute much to the successful business of operating the First Theatre are Dick Johnson (Rhoda's husband), who is the trigger-quick stage manager; Jimmie Vincent, his assistant; Kay Knudsen, who operates the lighting department; Maxine Albro, whose whimsical sets have amused countless thousands; and Lucy Valpey, whose faithful service at the piano has endeared her to casts and audiences alike.

The Women's Division CREA fun convention in Carmel Valley last weekend was pronounced a success by realtors, both local and visiting. Seen here are, left to right, Maury Reed, past CREA president; Peggy Porter Marquard, Northern California women's chairman; Eugene Conser, state secretary; Mrs. Conser, Mrs. Herb Lakey and Herb Lakey, president-elect of the California Real Estate Association. The convention was supervised by Mrs. Marquard and Gladys Johnston, of Carmel.

Ernest F. Morehouse, above, president for the past year of the Carmel Board of Realtors, acted as assistant bartender during a cocktail party at the Rancho Del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley. It was all part of the CREA convention. Mr. Morehouse made the welcoming speech at a luncheon meeting Saturday at the Carmel Valley Inn. We don't know who belongs to that prudish arm in the above photo. Photos by GEORGE SMITH.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB MEETING

"Every 24 hours the present administration in Washington spends thirty-two million dollars more than it takes in," said Mrs. Harry B. Gantt, reporting the address of Guy C. Gabrielson, Republican national chairman, at last week's meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Republican Women, held at Sunset School in Carmel. Gabrielson spoke at the recent convention of the California Council of Republican Women in Berkeley. Mrs. Gantt, first vice president of the local Republican women's organization, attended the Berkeley meeting as a delegate from the local group.

Quoting Gabrielson further, Mrs. Gantt said, "We are confronted with an administration bent on turning our Federal government into a nation-wide 'give-a-way program,' using the wealth and resources of all the people to purchase continued power for those who do not care what tomorrow brings as long as they can feast today at the taxpayers' expense."

Gabrielson pointed out, said Mrs. Gantt, that the Republican party did not oppose reasonable programs for the social betterment of the people, but, he added, "Neither an individual nor a nation can continue to spend more than income and yet hope to remain solvent."

In addition to Mrs. Gantt, other delegates from the Monterey Republican women's organization were Mrs. Carl Nuetzel, who reported on the keynote speech by Governor Earl Warren; Mrs. Helen C. Park, who presented views expressed at the Berkeley convention by Lieut. Governor Goodwin Knight; Mrs. Nora Law, who referred to an address made at the state meeting by Dr. Lynn T. White, Jr., Mills College president, and to a speech by Congressman Richard N. Nixon; and Mrs. Milton Marquard, who reviewed the state gathering as a whole.

Other matters dealt with at the meeting included the discussion and passage of a new constitution and by-laws for the local Republican women's group. Mrs. Frances Ballard, head of the group, presided.

GARDEN CLUB CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

Monterey Peninsula Garden Club members have been getting ready for their Christmas Bazaar to be held from noon until 7 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 16, at the Pacific Grove Women's Civic Club, Grand Street near Grove (behind the Museum).

Mrs. W. F. Ward, chairman of the event, reports that a large number of beautiful and useful articles have been produced in the past few weeks, and these will be sold at gaily decorated booths.

A booth for the children will include popcorn balls and candy wreaths. Other booths and tables will sell unusual Christmas tree ornaments, greenery arranged for mantels and doorways, colorful fat candles, plants in decorative pots, dried herbs in gaily wrapped jars, eucalyptus faggots, and many other Christmas items. There will be a grab bag of surprises.

Free tickets to those attending the bazaar will entitle the lucky winner of the drawing to a fine big pyracantha plant. During the afternoon refreshments will be served to the strains of Christmas music.

Following the bazaar the Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will hold its annual Christmas party in the Women's Civic Club at 8 p.m. For members only, the party will feature exchange of gardening gifts--preferably something living--and holiday refreshments.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S MEETING

Tonight at 7:45 the Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at "The House of Four Winds," in Monterey. Current business will include a discussion of Christmas party plans. The party will be formal, and will be given at the San Carlos Hotel on Dec. 22. Two features of the evening will be the exchange of gifts and the welcoming of new members.

MUCH ACTIVITY ON THE VALLEY ROAD

There is much activity on the Carmel Valley Road these days. Work is already in progress preparing detours around the hill above the Farm Center. The elimination of curves and lowering the road at this point is the first project to receive attention of the contractors.

The California Water & Telephone Co. is installing its new water line so that this work will be completed by the time paving is to begin.

STAMP CLUB DELEGATES NAMED

Col. John R. Wright presided at the regular meeting of the Stamp Club on Monday. He appointed Col. R. Adams and E. D. Yount as delegates to attend the ninth annual exhibit of the Council of Northern California Philatelists in San Francisco this week. The door prize was won by Terry Farrell. A very spirited auction was conducted by Col. Adams and Mr. Yount. Many blocks of stamps, sets of stamps and single stamps of great values were auctioned. The next meeting will be held on Jan. 16.
